

Contact Us

- info@uspakfoundation.org
- 202 505 4 PAK
- Website
- Facebook
- Twitter

USPAK EVENTS

Summer Internship and Career Networking Day – March 1st

WHEN:

Saturday, March 1
9:30AM - 12:30PM

WHERE:

City View Room
Elliots Building
George Washington University
1957 E St. NW,
Washington D.C.

More Info:

[www.uspakfoundation.org/
summer_internship_2014](http://www.uspakfoundation.org/summer_internship_2014)

Contact:

ed@uspakfoundation.org
(202) 505-4725

Register now!

bit.ly/uspakinternship2014

WHAT:

Meet top local employers
in the fields of technology,
business, and government.
Please bring copies of your resume.

Business casual attire suggested.

ORGANIZED BY:

USPAK, OPEN Washington DC, and GWU-PSA will hold a Summer Internship and Career Networking day on Saturday March 1st 2014 from 9:30 AM - 12:30 PM at

City View Room, Elliott Building, George Washington University, Washington DC

A large number of Corporate and Government Employers from Maryland, Washington DC, and Virginia will be on-site to conduct job interviews, discuss summer internship opportunities, and provide career guidance to College and High School students.

At this event you will be able to:

- Network with Local Corporate and Government Employers
- Learn about Internship and Job opportunities in Washington DC
- Formal job interviews with employers
- Drop Resume for Employers
- Meet fellow students

We encourage Employers to take advantage of this event to hire students to meet their summer workload.

Students click here to Register for event

Event Flyer

Employers looking for student interns or for more event information email to ed@uspakfoundation.org

Read more updated information about the event.

Jobs

Visiting Carnegie Fellow, National Security Program

The New America Foundation's National Security Program is accepting applications for non-residential fellows from the Pakistani research and policy community to participate in the New Voices Program, a new initiative that enables people from the country to access and engage with policymakers and persons of influence in Washington, DC.

This fellowship is available to individuals originally from Pakistan and currently based in the country. The goal of this fellowship program is to reinvigorate Pakistani policy discourse with new ideas and arguments about conflicts and transitions in the region and U.S. foreign policy. The fellows will have a unique opportunity to create analyses on their areas of expertise and to promote it via our broad networks and media partners.

The fellowship, based in Washington, DC, will run for six weeks. The New America Foundation will cover airfare, transportation in DC, as well as room and board for the six-week period. The fellow will also receive staff support from the National Security Program. More Information

Summer 2014 Internships at SAALT

South Asian Americans Leading Together (SAALT) is a national, nonpartisan, non-profit organization that elevates the voices and perspectives of South Asian individuals and organizations to build a more just and inclusive society in the United States. SAALT's internships enable students to promote the civic and political engagement of South Asians in the United States. We encourage applications from undergraduate, graduate, and law students who are self-motivated and committed to working toward social change in your community. More Information or email at info@saalt.org for more information

Rumi Forum Fellowship Program 2014

Rumi Forum is inviting PhD candidates and those who have recently completed their doctorates in social sciences for a study fellowship that incorporates a trip to Turkey with the mission of exploring social, economic, cultural, security and political issues in Turkey and the wider region during the following dates:

Trip #1: May 10-18, 2014 (leaving DC May 9)

Trip #2: June 14-22, 2014 (leaving DC June 13)

During this study trip, fellows will have an opportunity to meet with civil society organizations, parliamentarians and government officials, journalists, academicians and think-tank scholars

To apply, please complete by March 7, 2014 the application form.

Intern, Public Affairs, Media and Communications at Atlantic Council

The Office of Development and External Relations of the Atlantic Council is currently seeking qualified candidates for internships. The Atlantic Council is the leading international policy think tank focusing on the transatlantic alliance and its role in the broader world. With programs focusing on South Asia, Africa, Asia, and Eurasia, as well as on International Security, Transatlantic Relations and Energy, the Atlantic Council touches on most areas of foreign policy. More Information

Intern Graduate/Entry Level

Benenson Strategy Group, a premier consulting firm specializing in market research and political polling, seeks fall interns for our Washington D.C. office. This internship represents a tremendous opportunity to join a close-knit consulting team that shapes the strategies of Fortune 500 companies, major political candidates, issue advocacy campaigns and non-profit organizations. This position is ideal for an intellectually curious and motivated self-starter with an enterprising spirit who can positively contribute to BSG's success.

Ideal applicants will have a strong interest in politics, corporate communication and research and have relevant academic or work experience. Prior experience working with political or marketing campaigns, issue advocacy organizations and/or market research is preferred. This is a paid position.

Essential Functions::

- Conducting background research on issues, companies, institutions and candidates
- Setting up reports and data tables, charts and graphs, and support of analytical staff
- Proofreading research studies and presentations, and assisting analysts in drafting reports and developing presentations for clients
- Monitoring media for relevant public polling and news events for weekly reports. More Information

VIEWPOINTS

Pakistan Urbanization: Achieving Progress, Growth, and Development Through Urban Renewal

Pakistan is South Asia's most rapidly urbanizing country. In barely 10 years, nearly 50 percent of its 180 million people will live in cities (a third do today). Nadeem Ul Haque, a former deputy chairman of the Pakistani government's Planning Commission, discusses what must be done to make Pakistan's cities a better force for economic growth and development.

This publication marks the third of four policy briefs on Pakistan's urbanization. The series seeks to share with a wider audience the proceedings of a recent Wilson Center conference that explored Pakistan's urbanization challenges. Read More

Pakistan's Militancy Response: Too Little, Too Late

For years, the U.S. government has pushed Pakistan to crack down harder on militancy. And for years, Islamabad has largely refused. Instead, it has dithered as extremist violence has spread across the country. Last week, investigative journalist Umar Cheema revealed that Pakistan's previous government used a secret counterterrorism fund to purchase jewels, rugs and even sacrificial goats.

Yet the tides may be turning.

Last week, Pakistan was rocked by a rapid succession of bomb blasts—including attacks on consecutive days that killed Pakistani soldiers in the northwest and near military headquarters in Rawalpindi. In response, the military launched air strikes in North Waziristan—a tribal region bordering Afghanistan that shelters the Pakistani Taliban, or TTP (which attacks the Pakistani state), as well as the Afghan Taliban and Haqqani network (which attack the Afghan government and U.S. troops in Afghanistan). Pakistani troops have waged limited operations in other tribal areas in recent years, but North Waziristan has largely been spared. More Information

Help Us Help You

USPAK is a volunteer organization working for the betterment of Pakistani Americans. Our efforts are focused on developing future leaders of our country from within our community. We also work to address issues of concern of our community, ranging from immigration, civil liberties, religious freedom, and socio-economic development of Pakistani American community.

It is through help of supporters like you that we are able carry on our vision promoting the ambitions and aspirations of Pakistani Americans. Your support today can ensure that Pakistani Americans have a place at the table, as we shape the policies on immigration, the economy and civil rights. You can help build a more vibrant and inclusive democracy.

Can we count on you to help? Can you donate $500, $250 or $150 today? Click here and use Donate button. USPAK is a 501 c3 non-profit organization; your donation qualifies for tax deduction.
