CHAPEL HILL HATE CRIME

Three peace loving and rising stars of American Muslim Community lost their lives in a senseless tragic triple hate crime execution style murder in Chapel Hill, NC. As we mourn their tragic loss, we are also inspired to see how much these young caring people accomplished in their short lives. In an increasingly individualistic world, their lives stand as a shining example to young people all over the world. Deah Barakat, 23, his wife Yusor Abu-Salha, 21, and her sister, Razan Abu-Salha showed us the importance of serving others. We ask everyone to keep them in their prayers.

All Americans have to unite and collectively rise to fight the rise of domestic terrorism in the form of religious discrimination, violence against minorities, and creating cultural divide. The American Muslim Community should not be terrorized into cowering timidity, and we must live up to the American value of where minorities do not live in fear, and where cultural diversity enriches the society.

The American Muslim Community must reach out to media to call it what it is, a hate crime. The media must be put to task as to why it took so long to make it national news.

American Muslim Community should take a proactive stance with their local law enforcement agencies to develop processes to handle such tragic situations, and to establish programs about cultural diversity.
